

Research in Progress 2010

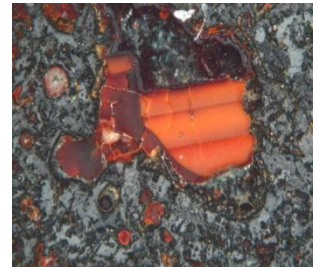

Wednesday the 10th November

UCL Institute of Archaeology
London

This meeting is aimed at a wide variety of contributors, from historical and archaeological metallurgists to excavators, historians and economists. If you are working, or have just finished working, on a project related to archaeological or historical metallurgy, we would like to hear from you.

We are particularly interested in bringing together contract and public sector archaeologists with academic researchers, and in fostering links between the different disciplines studying metallurgy and related activities.

Whether you are a graduate student, an archaeometallurgical expert, an interested non-specialist or a professional excavator, we invite you to meet others working in this field and present your research to an interested community.

For further information check the HMS website: <http://www.hist-met.org/hmsrip2010.html>

Or the conference blog: <http://researchinprogress2010.blogspot.com/>

Call for papers

Proposals for 10-15 minute oral papers are welcomed from anyone undertaking work in any area of historical metallurgy/archaeometallurgy, and from other researchers whose focus is of relevance to this subject. Titles and 400 word abstracts should reach the organisers at hms.rip2010@gmail.com by Monday 27th September 2010.

Cost

The cost for members of the Historical Metallurgy Society will be £18, non-member £20. Cost includes lunch and coffee. Registration is requested by Friday 5th November 2010 as places are limited

Organisers

This meeting is being organised by Ruth Fillery-Travis and Miljana Radivojevic, UCL Institute of Archaeology, 31-34 Gordon Square, London, WC1H 0PY.

Registration form

Name:

Organisation:

Address for correspondence:

Email address:

I am a Historical Metallurgy Member and enclose a cheque for £18

I am not a member and enclose a cheque for £20

Please make cheques payable to The Historical Metallurgy Society Ltd. They can be sent to Ruth Fillery-Travis, UCL Institute of Archaeology, 31-34 Gordon Square, London, WC1H 0PY.

I/we wish to offer a presentation entitled:

With the following authors:

Please attach a 400 word abstract.

Historical Metallurgy Society

<http://www.hist-met.org/hmsrip2010.html>

Conference blog:

<http://researchinprogress2010.blogspot.com/>

Abstract deadline: Monday 27th September

Registration deadline: Friday 5th November